

DEATH OF C. C. WASHBURN.

The people of Wisconsin, without regard to political creeds or religious beliefs, will receive with profound sorrow the news of the death of ex-Governor C. C. Washburn, which took place at Eureka Springs, Arkansas, on Sunday afternoon, at half-past five o'clock. Notwithstanding his death was not unexpected, the news comes with the deepest sadness, because there were hopes that he would ultimately recover, and return home. But death has done its work, and Cadwallader C. Washburn is no more. His life was an interesting and a successful one. He was not only a hard worker in the accumulation of property, but he was likewise a diligent student, and became one of the best informed of our public men. He was as successful in politics as he was in business, and both in politics and in business he was a grand type of strong manhood. He gave to Wisconsin for educational purposes money and property to the amount of $250,000, and in a more private way he gave thousands more to those who needed help. His fortune was estimated at from two to three million dollars.

He was the youngest of the famous four Washburn brothers. Elihu B., was in Congress many years, and then Minister to France, and is still living. Israel was Governor of Maine in 1861-3, and also member of Congress, and now lives in Portland. William D., lives in Minneapolis, and is also a member of Congress.

He leaves a wife, who has been in the insane asylum in the State of New York, for thirty years, and two daughters, referred to in the biographical sketch published elsewhere.

Governor Rusk has appointed ex-Governors Dewey, Lewis, Taylor, Ludington, and Smith, and Chief Justice Cole and General David Atwood, a committee on the part of the State to receive the remains. The funeral will take place at LaCrosse on Thursday.

President William B. Strong, of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway, has been reported very sick, but the latest from Boston says his condition has improved and in a few weeks he will be able to be in his office.

If the President saw fit to pardon Fitz John Porter in the face of the fact that the cowardice and treachery of the latter were severe blows to the cause of the Union at a very critical moment in the struggle against armed rebellion, why cannot he see fit to pardon Mason, who attempted to kill the blackest villain of modern times—the assassin of the President of the United States?

It is advertised in the State Journal that sealed proposals will be received until Wednesday, May 31, 1882, at 12 M. for furnishing materials and doing all the work necessary to build and complete four additions, with certain other repairs and modifications, to the Wisconsin State Hospital for the Insane, according to the plans and specifications thereof, prepared by Captain John Nader, the architect.

While many think the American Congress is slow in doing business, and has short sessions and times long adjournments, the following facts will strike them that Congress is not so bad after all: "The House of Lords has since Easter met at 4 instead of 5. The first day it sat twenty minutes, the second thirty-five—justifying Lord Bath's prediction when it was proposed to meet at the earlier hour, that their lordships, instead of adjourning in time for dinner, would now adjourn in time for 5 o'clock tea. The whole sittings for a week occupied about an hour."

The Democratic Mayor of Cincinnati is not only Means by name but he means by practice to break up the custom of keeping open saloons in that city on Sundays. He seems to be a very practical man and one of uncommon good sense. He has an excellent idea of the plan to better society in Cincinnati, and recently he said: "One of the first duties of a community is to protect the young; protect the boys first and they will protect the girls." If the mayors of large cities would take this sentiment home to themselves, and act accordingly, it would soon work a splendid revolution in society.

In Louisiana parlance, the Bourbon Democrats of Georgia are trying to "bulldoze" Alexander H. Stephens, in other words they are trying to drive him out of the Independent movement in Georgia by threats. The Atlanta Constitution comes out in words of warning in this wise: "We say to Mr. Stephens, with the utmost respect, that he ought not to receive the nomination of the Democratic party if he compromises with its enemies. There is no man, no matter how bright he may be, who can carry the standard of the Democratic party of Georgia if he comes to its convention bearing the standard of the coalition." Although Mr. Stephens is seventy years old and labors under severe bodily infirmities, his mind is strong and his courage not easily shaken, and no whip-lash from any Democratic paper in Georgia will deter him in the least from doing what he thinks best for the political welfare of his native State.

The first annual meeting of the Wisconsin State Prohibitory Amendment Association will be held in the Senate Chamber of the capitol, on Tuesday, June 6, 1882, commencing at 7:30 p. m. The annual election will take place, and such other business transacted as may properly come before the meeting. It is proposed to hold a conference of the friends of temperance on the following day, Wednesday, June 7th, at 9 o'clock a. m., in the Senate Chamber, for the purpose of considering the question of holding a State Convention or a three days' temperance encampment on the Monona Lake Assembly grounds, immediately after the close of the Wisconsin Sunday School Assembly, August 4, 1882, and for the purpose of appointing delegates to a national prohibitory convention to be held in Chicago, August 23, or of arranging for their appointment at the proposed State convention in case it should be held.

WASHBURN DEAD.

Death of the Hon. C. C. Washburn at Eureka Springs, Arkansas.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.
MADISON, May 15.—Governor Rusk has issued the following proclamation:

A PROCLAMATION.
STATE OF WISCONSIN.
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.
MADISON, May 15th, 1882.
It becomes my sorrowful duty to announce that C. C. Washburn, Governor of the State of Wisconsin for the years 1872 and 1873, died at Eureka Springs, in the State of Arkansas, on the 14th day of May, 1882, and I commend to the people of this State the study of his exemplary character and the emulation of his useful life in all of his private business relations during his long career as member of Congress; through his patriotic service in the late war as Colonel, Brigadier-General, and Major-General, from the faithful discharge of his duties, while Chief Executive of the State and as the generous founder of the Washburn Observatory, and the liberal donor to public charities. In the discharge of every duty and in the fulfillment of every trust, in public and in private, his aim was always noble and exalted, and by his illustrious and honest service he has more than repaid for every honor conferred upon him. His pure and spotless character, his eminent and unblemished service, both civil and military, and his magnanimous and philanthropic conduct, have endeared him in the hearts of all good citizens; while the people will cherish the memory of his noble nature and generous deeds, and will ever revere the example of his illustrious and successful life. It is also befitting that they lament this unmeasurable loss, and do some public reverence to the honored dead. Now, therefore, as a token of public veneration and grief, I do designate and appoint the following citizens of the State a Committee to meet the remains at the borders of the State, and attend the funeral obsequies of the departed: Ex-Governors Nelson Dewey, James T. Lewis, W. R. Taylor, Harrison Ludington, and Wm. E. Smith; Chief Justice O. Cole, Secretary of State Ernst G. Timme, Hon. Alexander Mitchell, Hon. D. Atwood, and Hon. J. C. Gregory.

As a further manifestation of the sorrow felt by all, and as a mark of respect, I direct that all State offices be closed to public business on the day of the funeral; that the National flag be displayed at half-staff on the Capitol building at Madison until sundown on the day of the burial, and that the building be draped with emblems of mourning for the period of thirty days. In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the great seal of the State of Wisconsin to be affixed. Done at the capitol, in the city of Madison, this 15th day of May, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred and eighty-two.

J. M. RUSK.
By the Governor:
ERNEST G. TIMME,
Secretary of State.
In addition to the above the regents and faculty of the university will also go to Chicago and receive the remains. A guard of honor of twenty soldiers from the Lake City Guards of Madison, under the command of Adjutant General Chapman, will go to Chicago and accompany the remains to La Crosse. The entrances of the capitol, the doors to the Senate and Assembly Chambers, the executive chair, and the late Governor's portrait, will be heavily draped in mourning. The funeral party will leave here at noon to-morrow, and meet the remains there to-morrow evening.

EUREKA SPRINGS, Ark., May 14.—The Hon. C. C. Washburn, ex-member of Congress and ex-Governor of Wisconsin, died here at 5:30 this afternoon of paralysis and Bright's disease of the kidneys. He came here on the 14th of February last, in the hope of being benefited by the use of these waters. In about two weeks he began rapidly to improve, and his friends indulged the fond but delusive hope of his recovery. Two weeks ago he commenced to fail, and on the 5th inst. he was seized with delirium, and never again became fully rational, although he had occasionally very brief lucid intervals. On Tuesday evening, the 9th inst., he had an attack of apoplexy, which was the third or fourth since his original attack, and his case became utterly hopeless, but the final crisis came at 2 o'clock Saturday morning, the 13th inst., when he was struck with palsy. He fell into a state of profound unconsciousness, which continued until he died.

There were present at his death several members of his family, his brother, E. B. Washburn, of Illinois; his daughter, Mrs. Payson, and her husband, the Hon. Charles Payson, late United States Minister to Denmark, and his brother-in-law, G. A. Buffum, Esq., of Louisiana, Mo.

Governor Washburn was born in Livermore, Maine, in April, 1818, and was consequently 65 years old. He was one of four brothers, two of whom have been governors of different States, and four of whom have represented four different States in Congress; Israel Washburn, Jr., from Maine; Elihu B., from Illinois; Cadwallader C., from Wisconsin, and William D., from Minnesota. He left Maine in the spring of 1839 to seek his home and fortune in the then far West. He made his first stop in Davenport, then a very small village in the newly constituted Territory of Iowa, and kept a private school for three months. He then joined the geological survey of Iowa Territory under David Dale Owen, which had been ordered by Congress. After that was finished he took up his residence at Stephenson, now Rock Island, Illinois, and entered upon the study of law with Joseph B. Wells, Esq., afterward Lieutenant Governor of that State. In 1841 he was elected county surveyor of Rock Island county, and in the spring of 1842 he removed to Mineral Point, Wisconsin Territory, and was soon afterward admitted to the bar. He at once entered upon a successful practice of his profession, and in a year afterward associated himself with Cyrus Woodman. The law practice was gradually abandoned; the attention of the firm was given to the entry of public lands and the location of Mexican war land warrants, both pine and agricultural lands. Subsequently the firm of Washburn & Woodman, which had become known as one of the strongest in Southwestern Wisconsin, established the Mineral Point Bank, which stood against all the reverses of the time and never suspended specie payments.

From Mineral Point Mr. Washburn removed to La Crosse, but when elected Governor he took up his residence in Madison, and for several years his home was at his country seat at Edgewood. He subsequently returned to La Crosse, which was his home at the time of his death.

Mr. Washburn was first elected to Congress from Wisconsin in 1854, and served for six years, and until the war broke out in 1861. He then entered the military service as Colonel of the Second Wisconsin Cavalry, and served continually till the close of the war, coming out as a Major-General. He served with distinction in the Southwest, and gained great credit while in command of the department of the Tennessee, and was Governor of Memphis. After the war closed he was again elected to Congress from Wisconsin and served four years more, till 1869, and in 1871 he was elected Governor of Wisconsin and served two years. After the expiration of his term of service he returned to private life and devoted himself to extensive business affairs. He was a large owner of pine lands in Wisconsin and an extensive manufacturer of lumber.

He was one of the projectors and builders of the Minneapolis and St. Louis railroad, but the great credit of his life that which has made his name widely known in Europe, as well as in this country, the erection and operation of his vast flouring mills in Minneapolis, Minn. He was the first man in the United States to introduce what is known as the patent process for the manufacture of flour, and also the Hungarian roller system of manufacture. His mills are the most extensive of any mills in the world, and are capable of turning off between seven and eight thousand barrels of flour daily. There is no man living who was so thoroughly versed in milling, or had so complete a knowledge of every detail in the manufacture of flour.

Within the last few years he had erected an observatory at Madison, and after providing it with one of the largest telescopes in the world, presented it to the State of his adoption. He was stricken down with paralysis at LaCrosse, Wisconsin, on the third day of February, 1882, a few months after that event. Though a strong Protestant, but as a token of his profound respect for the unselfish devotion of the Sisters of Charity, he presented to them his splendid country place, Edgewood, on the shore of Lake Winnebago, near Madison, for the purpose of establishing a branch of the Saint Clara Academy of Consumption Mound, Wisconsin.

Governor Washburn leaves two married daughters, Mrs. A. W. Kelsey and Mrs. Payson, wife of the Hon. Charles Payson, late Third Assistant Secretary of State and United States Minister to Denmark. His fortune is estimated at between two and three millions of dollars. The remains will leave here to-morrow morning for LaCrosse, Wis., where the funeral will take place on Thursday next.

EIGHT DROWNED.

CHICAGO, May 15.—A small sail boat was swamped on Lake Calumet Sunday evening, and all on board, eight men and boys were drowned. All were workmen in the shops at Pullman. The drowning was witnessed by their friends on the shore.

MUST HANG.

Guiteau's Last Hopes of Escaping the Gallows, shattered by the District Judge.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—The Post of Monday will have the following positive statement:

Chief Justice Carter, and Judges MacArthur, Hagner, and James held consultations Saturday, summing up the arguments of counsel in the application of Guiteau for a rehearing.

The consultation lasted four hours, and was marked by the most searching examination of authorities, and a most rigorous analysis of every point made in the arguments.

The judges were in thorough harmony all through, and in reaching decision, not for one minute differing in the general steps by which the decision was reached, although, of course, each judge had his individual opinions on the various points of law and their application.

The decision will be announced May 22. The decision affirms the sentence of the court below, of course overruling the exceptions.

This disposes of Guiteau's last chance. He will be hanged June 30, 1882.

"I Don't Want That Stuff."

Is what a lady of Boston said to her husband when he brought home some medicine to cure her of sick headache and neuralgia which had made her miserable for fourteen years. At first attack there after it was administered to her with such good results that she continued its use until cured, and made so enthusiastic in its praise that she induced twenty-two of the best families in her circle to adopt it as their regular family medicine. That stuff is Hop Bitters.

HIDDEN IN DUBLIN.

DUBLIN, May 14.—From information that the assassins are still in this city, the conclusion is drawn that they are afraid, if they should be separated, one would turn traitor. At least twelve were engaged in the tragedy. It is believed that in the cab which stood near the scene of the murder, and loitering under the trees, were armed men, ready to effect a rescue in case the actual assassins were surprised.

The police have now issued a description of the four men on the cab. Two of them are described as being about 30 years of age, with sandy hair; one of about 35 years, of stout build and dark complexion, with a hollow bridge on his nose, and the other about 20 years, with a small black mustache. The driver is described as between 35 and 40, with a red, bloated face.

There is reason to believe the assassins had intended to murder eight persons.

"How do you manage," said a lady to her friend, "to appear so happy all this time?" "I always have Parker's Ginger Tonic brandy," was the reply, "and I keep myself and family in good health. When I am well I always feel good natured." See other column.

—Mr. Henry P. Ehringer will go to Chicago to-morrow, to take a position in one of the largest hardware establishments in the West. He has filled the position of book-keeper for the firm of Lawrence & Atwood for more than nine years, and has proved himself one of the best accountants in the city. Beside that he is thoroughly reliable, industrious, sober-minded, and true as steel in all things. When he goes to Chicago he parts with a host of friends in Janesville.

—Dr. O. L. Lusk, who graduated from the Chicago Medical College last spring, will go to that city to-morrow and enter at once upon the practice of his profession, and will open an office on the corner of Monroe and State streets. Dr. Lusk stood high at his graduation, and is a bright, active, intelligent young man, and that he will succeed in Chicago, there can be no doubt. He shows good judgment in going where business can be found—right in the heart of the city of Chicago—and he is confident of success.

—Two ladies and a small boy were riding along one of our public streets, yesterday afternoon, in the First ward, near Chatham street, when the vehicle was suddenly tipped over by one of the wheels running into a hole where somebody had been hauling away soil. All three of the occupants of the buggy were thrown to the ground with considerable force, but aside from slight bruises about the head of one the ladies, and the tearing of her clothing, no damage was done. The street commissioner will undoubtedly be instructed to fill up that hole, or rut, at the next meeting of the council.

—Yesterday forenoon, Officer Cutts found Michael Flynn in one of the by-roads of the second ward in a drunken and helpless condition—so helpless that a wheelbarrow had to be procured to wheel Flynn to the county jail. Officer Cutts loaded the fellow in the barrow and started for the jail, when a large crowd of boys followed in his trail. When they had reached Court street, Flynn jumped up and ran away, but was soon captured and safely secured behind the bars. It so happens that nearly every time this inebriate is captured, the officers are compelled to take him to jail on a day or wagon; but his exploits of yesterday morning demonstrates that if the officers would only use the "come alongs" on him, he would soon be broke of stubbornness and feigning a stupid drunk. Try him once.

—At the meeting of the Garfield Hospital Association in Washington one day last week, there were quite large sums realized from the sale of flowers and from refreshments. A special telegram from Washington giving an account of the affair, shows that Mrs. C. G. Williams and her daughter, took a prominent part in making the Association a success. It says: "One of the prettiest tables was that represented by Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa and Minnesota, presided over by Mrs. Sawyer and her daughter, of Wisconsin; Mrs. White, Mrs. C. G. Williams, Mrs. Aldrich, and Mrs. Cannon, of Illinois; Mrs. Windom, of Minnesota, and Mrs. Deering, of Iowa. The contributions outside of the committee were small, so that the success was almost wholly due to the excellent management of the table. Mrs. Sawyer contributed the entire floral decorations, and Mrs. Aldrich, Mrs. Deering, and Mrs. Williams were indefatigable in their labors, also Mrs. Cannon."

—The Rev. D. F. Davies, pastor of the Congregational church, left at eleven o'clock to-day, for Ironton, Ohio, whither he has been called by the severe illness of his mother.

—A good many fishing parties were out on the river banks yesterday, but none of the parties would "own up" in the evening that they had been out. Poor luck all along the line.

The Teachers and the Schools.

The unpleasant affair which took place on Thursday last at the Second ward school house between two female teachers, has caused considerable discussion among those acquainted with the parties; and the low, vulgar, and ill-timed allusion to the matter by the morning sheet has disgusted all decent people who read the article in that paper. Feeling aggrieved at what had thus been written, Miss Mead, one of the persons concerned in the unfortunate circumstance at the Second ward school, wrote a note to Professor Burton on Saturday evening, demanding that she should be set right in the matter, and that the indecent charges made by the morning sheet should be denied. It was unfortunate for her that her note was not written more in a spirit of kindness and consideration. Mr. Burton had decided to refute the vile charges published as above stated, but the peculiar character of the note sent by Miss Mead to the Professor compelled him to call a special meeting of the Board of Education at once. The special meeting was held on Saturday evening, and the letter of Miss Mead's placed before the board. Without discussion, her resignation was accepted, and Miss Bertha Sayles, of the Second Intermediate department of the Fifth ward school, was chosen to fill the vacancy. Miss Emma Clark, of the First Primary department of the Fifth ward school, was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by Miss Sayles' promotion; and Miss Kate Richardson was selected to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Miss Clark.

It will be regretted that this unpleasant affair occurred, but the course taken by Prof. Burton will be thoroughly approved by all persons interested in the chief duties of one who teaches our children in the public schools, is to learn to bridle the tongue, to refrain from harsh and offensive language, to govern with a spirit of kindness and yet with womanly firmness, and to so discharge her duties in the school room that she shall win and retain the confidence of the pupils.

Cuticura THE NEW BLOOD PURIFIER Resolvent. I will now state that I made miraculous cure of one of the worst cases of skin disease known. The patient is a man forty years old; had suffered fifteen years. His eyes, scalp and nearly his whole body presented a frightful appearance. Had had the attention of twelve different physicians, who prescribed the best remedies known to the profession, such as iodine, potassium, arsenic, corrosive sublimate, sarsaparilla, etc. Had paid $500 for medical treatment with but little relief. I prevailed upon him to use the CUTICURA RESOLVENT internally, and the CUTICURA and CUTICURA SOAP externally. He did so, and was completely cured. The skin on his head, face, and most other parts of his body, which presented a most loathsome appearance, is now as soft and smooth as an infant's
